VITAMIN

01

The vitamin market fluctuated slightly, some products were stopped from quoting or raised in price, and market attention increased: prices for K3 increased due to rising raw material prices and the factory's quotation was firm; VA market was weak, mainly focusing on shipments and inventory consumption; main factories of B1 and B6 stopped quoting or limited orders to consume low-priced inventory, and transaction prices rose slowly; Niacin and Niacinamide factories had tighter supply, the market became active.

AMINO ACID

02

The Lysine market was polarized last week. The factory quotation for 98% was weak, while the market for 70% Lysine was tight with risen prices and increased orders.

Threonine price is at bottom level with active inquiries and some factories have raised prices. The market will be stable and strong in the short term.

NHU's quotation for Methionine has been raised and buyers are cautious in signing orders, the domestic inquiries became active. It is expected that the market will be strong in the short term.

API

03

Some factories of Tylosin tartrate and Tilmicosin Phosphate continued to stop quoting last week, and the market price rose further; Lvermectin price has been risen due to the rising prices of raw materials.

The prices of Enrofloxacin/Ciprofloxacin HCL, Oxytetracycline, Neomycin Sulfate and other products are still strong; Doxycycline, Florfenicol, Amoxicillin are currently in fierce competition among manufacturers, and market is running weakly recently.

FOOD ADDITIVE

04

Domestic market transaction price of Sucralose was about 24-26USD/KG last week, and the price is expected to continue to rise in the future. Prices of Acesulfame and Aspartame remain stable.

In terms of nutritional enhancers, the current domestic market transaction price of Creatine Monohydrate has been reduced to around 3.5-3.7USD/KG, and the delivery period is scheduled to March. The price of L-Carnitine series products has risen.
